DETAILED ACTION

Response to Amendment

1. In response to the Amendment received on November 28, 2004, the examiner has carefully considered the amendments. The examiner acknowledges the cancellation of claim 14.

Response to Arguments

2. Applicant's arguments, see Amendment, filed November 28, 2003, with respect to claims 1-45 have been fully considered and are persuasive. The rejection of claim 1 under 35 USC 102(b) as being anticipated by Dower et al (6,151,433 and 6,085,004) has been withdrawn. While Dower et al teaches using electron donors having an oxidation potential greater than 0 and less than that of 1,4-dimethoxybenzene, Dower et al fails to teach using electron donors with said properties that are polycyclic aromatic compounds or N-alkyl carbazole. The rejection of claims 1-4, 7-13, 15-17, 22-24, and 45 as being anticipated by Cole et al (6,331,080) under 35 USC 102(e) has been withdrawn. While Cole et al teaches using electron donors having an oxidation potential greater than 0 and less than that of 1,4-dimethoxybenzene, Cole et al fails to teach using electron donors with said properties that are polycyclic aromatic compounds or N-alkyl carbazole. The rejection of claim 1 under 35 USC 102(b) as being anticipated by Oxman et al (4,828,583 and 4,735,632) has been withdrawn. While Oxman et al teaches using electron donors having an oxidation potential greater than 0 and less than that of 1,4-dimethoxybenzene, Oxman et al fails to teach using electron donors with said properties that are polycyclic aromatic compounds or N-alkyl carbazole. The rejection of claims 1-13, 16-17, 22-24, 28-30, 32-35 and 45 as being anticipated by Oxman et al (6,187,836 B1) as evidenced by Dower et al (6,085,004) under 35 USC 102(e) has been withdrawn. While Oxman et al as evidenced by Dower et al teaches using electron donors having an oxidation potential greater than 0 and less than that of 1,4-dimethoxybenzene, Oxman et al and Dower et al fail to teach using electron donors with said properties that are polycyclic aromatic compounds or N-alkyl carbazole.

Allowable Subject Matter

Art Unit: 1711

3. Claims 1-13 and 15-45 are allowed.

4. The following is an examiner's statement of reasons for allowance: The primary reasons for allowance is the electron donor having an oxidation potential greater than zero and less than that of 1,4-dimethoxybenzene and being selected from polycyclic aromatic compounds, such as those found in the instantly claimed invention or N-alkyl carbazole compounds. While the prior art teaches ternary photoinitiator systems for cationic polymerizable compositions, such as dental compositions, comprising onium salts, such as iodonium salts, visible light sensitizers, and electron donor compounds having oxidation potentials greater than zero and less than that of dimethoxybenzene, the prior art fails to teach electron donors that are polycyclic aromatic compounds or N-alkyl carbazole compounds having oxidation potentials greater than zero and less than that of dimethoxybenzene.

Any comments considered necessary by applicant must be submitted no later than the payment of the issue fee and, to avoid processing delays, should preferably accompany the issue fee. Such submissions should be clearly labeled "Comments on Statement of Reasons for Allowance."
